For the past three months our buyers have ransacked the markets of Europe and Amer-ica for the choicest of their productions Everything during this time has pointed our way. Times have been hard, manufacturers have been obliged to sacrice their goods in order to obtain money to keep affoat, whole-salers and jobbers have been on the brink of ruin and fallure, all eager to get rid of goods even at a fourth of their value, at any that would enable them to stave off the And our buyers have been buying these bargains right along, forcing the most re-markable bargain results by the wonderful supreme power of our spot cash, paid right lown upon the snot.

During the past years you and all Omaha -yes, all surrounding Omaha, even to hundreds of miles—have recognized that Boston Store is the bargain spot; that Boston Store stands unrivalled as bargain givers; that values have been given time and again, which have never been approached or duplicated. Yet, big as all these bargains were and wonderful as they have been, they will be dwarfed and cast into the shade and ever forgotten in the amazement produced by the bargains at the opening of BOSTON STORE, OMAHA, city, and thus Omaha lost.

On every point, however, the Nebraska boys are congratulating themselves, as their wish that the eligibility clause be lowered from 21 to 18 was carried, and their choice for commander-in-chief, Colonel W. E. Bandy, of Ohio, was elected; also Theodore Barton of Rock Island for second place and

L. A. Dilly for junior vice.

There is not a single member of the en campment who will not remember the Ne braska boys, for they were in the "push" all the time, and their headquarters were thronged all the day and far into the night. TWICE DESERTED BY HER HUSBAND.

Wronged Wife Hunts Up Her Recreant Spouse and Causes Him Much Trouble. SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25,-A strange story of one man's perfidy has come to light in the divorce court here. Mrs. Annie Allis, an employe of a New York publishing house, has begun an action for the annullment of a divorce which her husband, Edmund C. Allis, obtained from her in San Benito county, this state, in April last. The proeeeding reveals another chapter in a domes-tic episode that startled society in St. Paul, Minn., in 1885. At that time Edmund C. Allis was an attorney of that city and a pillar of Christ church. He disappeared mysteriously, and at first it was thought that be had defaulted with funds of the church he was treasurer. It transpire that he had eloped with a girl named Sophia Sanderson, who had been a friend of Mrs. Allis' in Philadelphia before her marriage. Mrs. Allis traced the guilty couple to Louis-ville. Then Allis deserted the Sanderson girl, who went back to her home in Philadelphia, and the wronged wife went to live with her husband in Boston. She was doomed to disappointment, however, accord-ing to the complaint filed today. Her husband descrited her again in 1889, running away with a girl referred to in the complaint as "Ernma," whose ruin he had accomplished. This girl, it is alleged, was deserted in the N. B. FALCONER. Messrs. Stevens and Brennan, the committee appointed by the Catholics of Hastings to present to Mgr. Satelli a protest against the removal of Rev. J. English, pastor of the church, to an inferior place, arrived in Omaha yesterday afternion on their way to Washington. They were met at the deput by Mr. James P. English of this city, The sale of the Columbia Clothing Co. to brother of Father English, and together they M. H. Cook and others under the name of the M. H. Cook Clothing Co., was conproceeded to the national capital.

The business of the delegation is to pro test against the removal of Father English from Hastings to David City. Under the Baltimore rules governing the removal of priests, bishops are prohibited from removing a priest from one parish to an inferior one, except for "grave reasons." The reasons or offenses, of which the bishop is the sole judge, are those affecting the spiritual life of the accused. Accusations of mismanagement, incompetency and others affecting temporal affairs are determined by a diocesan ccurt composed of orlests. The latter form has not been invoked in the case of Father English. It is presumed, therefore, that the "grave offense" mentioned in Mgr. Satolli's letter are of the first named class. Father English indignantly denounces and repel-as utterly baseless any and all charges against his character as a man and priest and it is the purpose of the delegation to secure a copy of the so-called charges, that the accused may face his accusers and vindicate himself.

The protest adopted by the Hastings con-gregation which the delegation presents is as follows: To the Most Rev. Mgr. Satolli: The under signed members of the congregation of the parish of Hastings, Neb., in the diocese of Lincoln, Neb., most respectfully represent to your grace that Father English has been in the city of Hastings for six years last past as parish priest, and that during all of said time he has conducted himself and his parish in such a manner as to at the present time possess the confidence, admiration and veneration of the people of Hastings, Catholics as well as Protestants, and particularly the Catholies.

We therefore, of the laity, petition your grace for the reversal of the order of our bishop removing Father English from Hast-ings, Neb., and we most respectfully represent that the parish to which Father English is sought to be removed is one of the most in ferior parishes in the diocese, and that the parish of Hastings is one considered among the superior parishes of the diocese. Father English is a zealous priest and has been last past, all of which time has been devoted to the interests of religion.

We, the congregation of Hastings, Neb. perefore protest against his removal. further most respectfully request that if any charges have been preferred against him they may be tried in the usual way, and his repu-tation vindicated. We further represent to your grace that we, the congregation, have steadfastly held curseives from interference in the ecclesiastical fight that has been waged in this diocese, and that when his grac Archbishop Hennessey, came here to investi-gate Bishop Bonaeum this congregation, as such, had no notice of bir coming, and did not in any manner meet Archbishop Hennessey therefore in the interest of religion and the interest of right and justice request your interposition to the end that jus-tice may be done to mil parties concerned and for such intervention on the part of your grace, we shall ever pray.

We, the committee on resolutions, beg ing from what has already been done and taking surrounding circumstances into ac-count, I have no doubt the institution will have afty inmates before the expiration of the next three months.

For the support of the institution the sisters depend on the work of the inmates and the charity of the public. The innates are not allowed to spend their time in idleness, but are engaged in all kinds of needlework and also in laundry work. Persons who send work to the Convent of the Good Shepherd will have the satisfaction of finding the work well done and will at the

I am confident the public will come to the aid of the sisters and will furnish them with the means necessary for this purpose. I leave it to you and to the people of the parish to decide as to the best way of assisting the sisters in this emergency.
I exhort all—men and women, young and old-to come to the aid of the sisters. Union gives strength, and when all are united in the support of a work the success of that work is, with God's blessing, assured. WILL HAVE LESS TO SAY IN FIXING WAGES Question of Pay M at Be Settled at the Em ployer's Office-Daylight Robbery on N Street-Other Magle City News.

"This last strike was a mighty bad thing for the men who are employed in the packing houses here," said a gentleman, who is general foreman in one of the houses. Before the strike I always hired the men and fixed the pay for each man who was put to work. For seven years I fought con startly for high wages and succeeded in keeping the pay of the men up to a standard which I considered was just. Some of the men appreciated this fact, while others did not. When the men commenced going out this time I was surprised to see fellows walk out who were getting from 25 to 50 certs a day more than other good men could be secured at for the same work. But they went, and now I am done with the whole question of pay. If these men can accomplish anything by bull-headed strikes, all right. From now on when a man shows up at our plant for a job I engage him and then send him to the office to find out what pay he is to get. I have worked for years taking the part of the workmen and trying to keep up wages, but now they can go to the office and deal with the gentlemen there. I wil see that they do plenty of work and earn all the money the men in the office agree to give them.'

Last of the Striking Troubles. Joe Kirby is one of a half dozen men who pulled Harry Hart out of a barber shop on Q street and gave him a severe pounding ecause he had gone to work in one of the packing houses. The other five men ran away and avoided arrest. Kirby was taken away and avoided arrat. Kirby was taken before Judge Christmann yesterday and sentenced to twenty days in the county jail. Ed Milier and Adolph Rose were both working in Cudahy's packing house. While on his way home Rose was assaulted by Miller with a coupling pin. Officer Tangemann happened to come along just in time o prevent a bloody contest. Miller entenced to thirty days in the county but the sentence was suspended providing the fellow would leave town at once. This is the last of the cases where arrests were made during the strike trouble

Peddlers Fall Out and Fight Frank Hawley and Leon Aronson left Omaha on a peddler's wagon the very best of friends. They occupied the same seat and were to divide the profits derived from the sale of a load of fruit which they purchased at a commission house, and were to peddle out from house to house. Just after reaching South Omaha the men got in.o a dispute over some money matters. The wind blew Haw-ley's hat off, and he jumped off the wagon to get it. When he did so Aronson whipped up the horse and did not stop until he was overtaken by Hawley, who hauled him off the seat and beat and clubbed him to his entire satisfaction. Hawley was arrested and sentenced to twenty days in the county

Daylight Robbery on N Street. Mike Reagen hung around Thompson's dry goods store yesterday until he saw a good opportunity, when he took a bolt of good opportunity, the street at a pace cloth and started down the street at a pace that would break all records. Officer Mc-Donough was soon on the fellow's trail and by the time the thief had reached Q street he was out of wind and was easily taken by the officer. The cloth was recovered. The thief gave the name of Mike Reagen He is a new one to the South Omaha police and had only been in town a few hours when he committed the theft. Will Develop New Springs. John Flynn, the clothier, and Dr. W. H. Slabaugh, have leased the mineral springs at yndicate park and will proceed to develop them and supply all comers with this water. The doctor had the water analyzed, and th report was highly satisfactory. Many South Omaha families have been using this water all summer, and all recommend it highly. The springs are located handy to the city and the water will not be expensive for any one. They have been named the Hollan Mineral springs.

BIGGEST AUDIENCE YET.

Last Night Witnessed Gorgeous Pompell-Vesuvius Ate His Supper with Eclat. Excursionists came from near and far by hundreds, and Omahans assembled by thousands at Courtland beach last evening, and Pain's "Last Days of Pompeii" was presented in a manner that ought to have delighted every one of the 10,006-odd persons in attendance, the largest audience yet had. The ballet, the tumblers, wrestlers and other performers were at their best, and their efforts to please were received with prolonged applause. It was "Omaha day," and the beach management has reason to feel proud of the manner in which the Omahans

At "Pompeii" all progressed to splendid style until the day's festivities were over and the populace assembled at Isis' temple. It was then that Giaucus refused to kneel to the golden calf, and there was trouble. Glaucus was a Christian with a bit of common sense, and he could not see where the calf had anything to do with his future. After thinking the matter over he came to the conclusion that he could see no reason in the wide, wide world why he should soil his pink tights by kneeling to the calf. So when the doors of the lempte were thrown open and the canting priests carried out his calflets, he looked on and smiled at the crowd kneeling to the piece of gilded veat. That made Arbaces hot under the collar, and in a few words that cannot be produced n print he ordered Glaucus to kneel, "Not your life," says Glaucus; this business, Arbaces, old boy; you're working for a laundry, and by making everybody kneel soil their tights, so you can get the job to wash them, but you'll not catch me. 've got a boil on each knee and I can't

That made Arbaces mad and he pulled his sword. Glaucus had worked as a bartender and was quick at pulling, and out came his Both were game and went piece of steel. at each other. The scrap was a good one, but before it was finianed old Vesuvius began to have the nightmare. The lobster he had eaten early in the day began to move, and it was not for the good of the persons who were spending the summer at "Pompeti." They were dead on how Vesuvius acted when he was not feeling well, consequently Arbaces turned his head for a moment to see what was going on, and Glaucus got in his work.

He grabbed fone and Nydla, two intimate friends of his, and made for the woods. He was wise, for just then Vesuvius belched forth, and all that he had in him. The earth quaked, people screamed and fied to the only place of safety, the sea. But it was a long Guttenberg stretch, and they were caught under the wire by Vesuvius. That was the last day of Pompeli-so far as last night's audience was concerned. The fireworks following were the finest yet seen. The rockets, bombs and water devils, the big set pieces, the funny elephant and monkey gymnast were magnificent.

My permission of Mr. Pain, Messrs Trevanion and Condon will, at 4 o'clock this afternoon and at 7:30 this evening, give a magnificant performance on the horizontal bar. special performance on the horizontal bar. Their performance is one of the games which entertain Arbaces and ione in the "Last Days of Pompeii," and its excellence has led the management to believe that a special appearance of the two artists will be gratifyng to the public.

They Caught Foster The Milwaukee police notified Chief Seavey last night that they had captured Ed Foster, alias Fox, and were holding him subject to orders from Omaha. Foster worked for an installment house at 1603 Howard street and eloped with some of the collections, so say the proprietors, M. F. Adams & Co. An Omaha officer will be sent to the Cream City to bring Foster back to stand trial for grand larceny.
